Boycott, Answer to Seizure of U.S. Plants Abroad

The problem is as old as civilization. A highly developed and wealthy nation contracts with a poor and undeveloped country to install expensive machinery and develop its natural resources for a stipulated percentage to the small nation.

The venture is highly successful and then greed raises its ugly head. The small country figures: Why settle for a percentage? Let's grab it all. So the small country confiscates the foreign plant and rejects all claims for compensation.

Great Britain had a way of handling such matters. She sent a warship to the small country's major seaport, seized the customs house, and collected the small country's import duties until she had recovered the British investment on foreign soil.

It was an effective system—but the great powers use a smoother practice today.

Witness the case of the American firm, Kennecott Copper Corp., and the nation of Chile, which South American country recently acquired a Communist-style government. Chile confiscated the multi-million-dollar Kennecott copper works and flatly refused to reimburse the American investors.

Over in Paris the Chilean government copper monopoly, Codelco, executed a contract to sell copper from the seized El Teniente mine of Kennecott to a French trading company, Groupement des Importations des Metaux, or GIM.

Kennecott filed suit to block the sale, and the Paris Superior Court issued an injunction to prohibit payment for a cargo of copper then on its way to the French port of Le Havre.

The French court threw the European copper trade into a panic, observers reporting it is now unlikely that Europeans will touch any of Chile's stolen copper.

Chile was dissatisfied with her original "cut" on the Kennecott mining operation, but the new Communist rulers of that nation may now find their percentage is zero. "No sale" means closed mines and unemployed miners living off welfare at a steadily increasing cost to the government.

This is a better way to meet the confiscation issue than Britain's practice of sending a warship to seize a small nation's customs house and collect reparations by force.

Fortunately the French court recognized the plight of U.S. developers who having developed a profitable industry saw it taken away from them by an avaricious and unscrupulous government.

Actually, of course, the problem isn't American—it's world wide. And if the French decision sticks, in the long run it is highly likely to end the practice of small countries robbing wealthier ones on the pretext that any new government can dishonor a national contract made by its predecessors.

Trial for Glasgow set

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A trial date of Oct. 16 was set Thursday for former Arkansas Deputy Atty. Gen. Roger Glasgow of Little Rock, who is accused of smuggling and possessing marijuana.

Glasgow pleaded innocent to the two federal charges Thursday before U.S. District Court Judge Reynaldo Garza. Glasgow, 39, remained free on a $5,000 personal recognizance bond.

Glasgow, who has since left his state job to enter private law practice, was arrested Aug. 25 at the International Bridge.

Rogers meets Chiao

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Deputy Foreign Minister Chiao Kuan-hua of China have had the first private meeting in the United States between high-ranking officials of the two nations.

"It went very well; it couldn't have been more pleasant," Rogers said Thursday night after Chiao left the dinner meeting at the secretary's home in one of New York's highest priced apartment buildings.

The two-hour and 15-minute session "was more social than substance," Rogers told reporters, indicating it was much more significant for having taken place than for what was discussed.

But when the two officials switched from the amiable chatting that went with the menu of American food and high-powered Chinese liquor, Rogers said the conversation dwelled on the continuing improvement in U.S.-Peking relations.

Rogers said he told Chiao that "all the understandings reached in China — during the Peking summit — have been carried out in a meticulous way by both sides" and "everything that has happened since has developed the way we hoped it would."

The only part of the talks that approached substance was a discussion of a wider opening of trade opportunities and increased travel by private citizens between China and the United States, Rogers said.

Kennecott filed suit to block the sale, and the Paris Superior Court issued an injunction to prohibit payment for a cargo of copper then on its way to the French port of Le Havre.

The French court threw the European copper trade into a panic, observers reporting it is now unlikely that Europeans will touch any of Chile's stolen copper.

Getting to the hard place

A workman on the site for the expansion of the Tolbar Corporation here, stretches to smooth concrete and finds himself leaning precariously. Completion is scheduled for January.

Mrs. McGovern visits state

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Mrs. Eleanor McGovern, wife of Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern, said during her visit to Little Rock Thursday she planned to encourage her husband to visit the state because "there is hope he can carry Arkansas."

"I feel that everybody I talked to, the leadership and the people, were interested in my husband's candidacy," she said.

Mrs. McGovern's day in the state started at midmorning with a news conference at the airport, then it was lunch with Gov. and Mrs. Dale Bumpers and finally a visit to the state fair.

Emerging from the luncheon with Mrs. McGovern, Bumpers said: "Give George my best."

However, Bumpers, who has seemed reserve publicly toward the McGovern-Shriver ticket, was noncommittal to newsmen on how active a role he would play in support of McGovern.

Another stop on Mrs. McGovern's trip was a visit to the Pulaski County headquarters of the McGovern-Shriver campaign. She told a chattering crowd of about 200 partisans, "I'm moved by the marvelous response here and what you all are doing."

Mrs. McGovern said her husband's candidacy was growing "by leaps and bounds," and that he had told her in a telephone conversation Wednesday night, "Eleanor, we're going to win."

A small crowd greeted Mrs. McGovern when she arrived at the fairgrounds, accompanied by Mrs. Bumpers and Mrs. Cal Ladbetter of Little Rock, a campaign official.

She made the rounds of the grounds, shaking hands with fair-goers and operators of exhibits.

Peace talks are in a 'sensitive state'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says the secret Vietnam negotiations "are in a sensitive state" and he will not forecast whether or when there will be a peace agreement.

"I cannot predict and will not predict that they (the peace talks) will or will not succeed," Nixon said Thursday when asked about prospects for a settlement before election day, Nov. 7.

"I cannot and will not predict when they will succeed."

Nixon's news-conference remarks, combined with reports from Paris and Saigon, gave little indication of any current breakthrough in the lengthening behind-the-scenes discussions on ending the Indochina war.

North Vietnam's Xuan Thuy, who met with presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger last week, said in Paris that the two sides still "are far apart on military and political questions."

From Saigon, following a meeting between President Nguyen Van Thieu and U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, it was reported that there had been no agreement thus far to any of the communist proposals.

In saying "the negotiations are in a sensitive stage," Nixon used language similar to that employed by the White House in mid-August after an earlier Kissinger trip.

Nixon seemed to be aiming his Vietnam remarks both at Hanoi and at his Democratic challenger, George McGovern, who is slated to spell out his Indochina views in a speech Tuesday.

Nixon outlined these views: "Under no circumstances will the timing of a settlement ... be affected by the fact that there's going to be an election Nov. 7."

—Former President Lyndon B. Johnson, in arriving at the 1968 bomb-halt deal with North Vietnam just before election day, "made a very, very great mistake in stopping the bombing without adequate agreements from the other side ... We are not going to make that mistake now."

—Hanoi might be holding off on a peace settlement until after the forthcoming U.S. election in hopes of getting better terms should McGovern win.

—The current U.S. bombing and mining of North Vietnam was essential to avoid potential disaster in South Vietnam following the enemy's spring offensive. "The back of the enemy offensive has been broken," he said. "This could not have been accomplished without the bombing and mining."

—"The mining and the bombing will continue, of course, until we get some agreements on the negotiating front."

$18 billion bill passes the Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — A momentous $18.5-billion Social Security-welfare bill has emerged from the Senate carrying dozens of new benefits and higher taxes. But it stalls reform of the welfare-families program indefinitely.

Capping a 17-hour session in which 40 separate amendments were considered, the Senate passed the bill 68 to 5 early today.

The 900-page bill would:

—Provide or increase Social Security benefits for widows; chronically ill old persons who need maintenance drugs; persons who want to retire at age 60; others who want to work beyond age 65; all male retirees who now get lower benefits than women with the same earnings records; disabled persons; elderly men and women who need glasses, hearing aids and dentures, and other groups.

—Substantially increase benefits and set a national income standard for aged, blind or disabled persons receiving welfare.

—Continue the program of Aid to Families with Dependent Children while three reform plans are tested.

—Aim to hold down the steadily rising costs of the two big government health programs: Medicare for the elderly and Medicaid for the poor.

On the other hand, the 90 million persons whose paychecks are tapped to finance Social Security would pay more into the program, as would their employers.

A worker now pays a maximum of $408 a year into the fund; the figure would go to $648 in 1973.

A large portion of the tax increase is due to a 25-per-cent hike in Social Security benefits approved by Congress last June. The faster checks became effective this week.

Senate passage sent the bill, with its landmark changes in Social Security and welfare laws, to conference with the House, which last year passed a smaller, $8.3-billion version.

POW wife files for a divorce

MEMPHIS (AP) — Mrs. Benrye Jean Vohden, a Memphis leader in efforts to obtain the release of American prisoners of war, has filed suit for divorce from her husband, who has been a POW for seven years.

Lawyers for Mrs. Vohden said the divorce action was brought in Marion, Ark., on grounds that Mrs. Vohden and her husband had "lived separate and apart for more than three years."

The lawyers said that in Arkansas, that constitutes desertion.

In January 1971, Mrs. Vohden was the leader of a group of seven women who demonstrated outside the North Vietnamese embassy in Paris and dumped thousands of letters demanding freedom for prisoners on the embassy steps.

The divorce action states that the Vohdens were married in Memphis in 1960 and separated in California in 1964.

Mrs. Vohden's husband is Navy Lt. Cmdr. Raymond Vohden, an aircraft pilot.

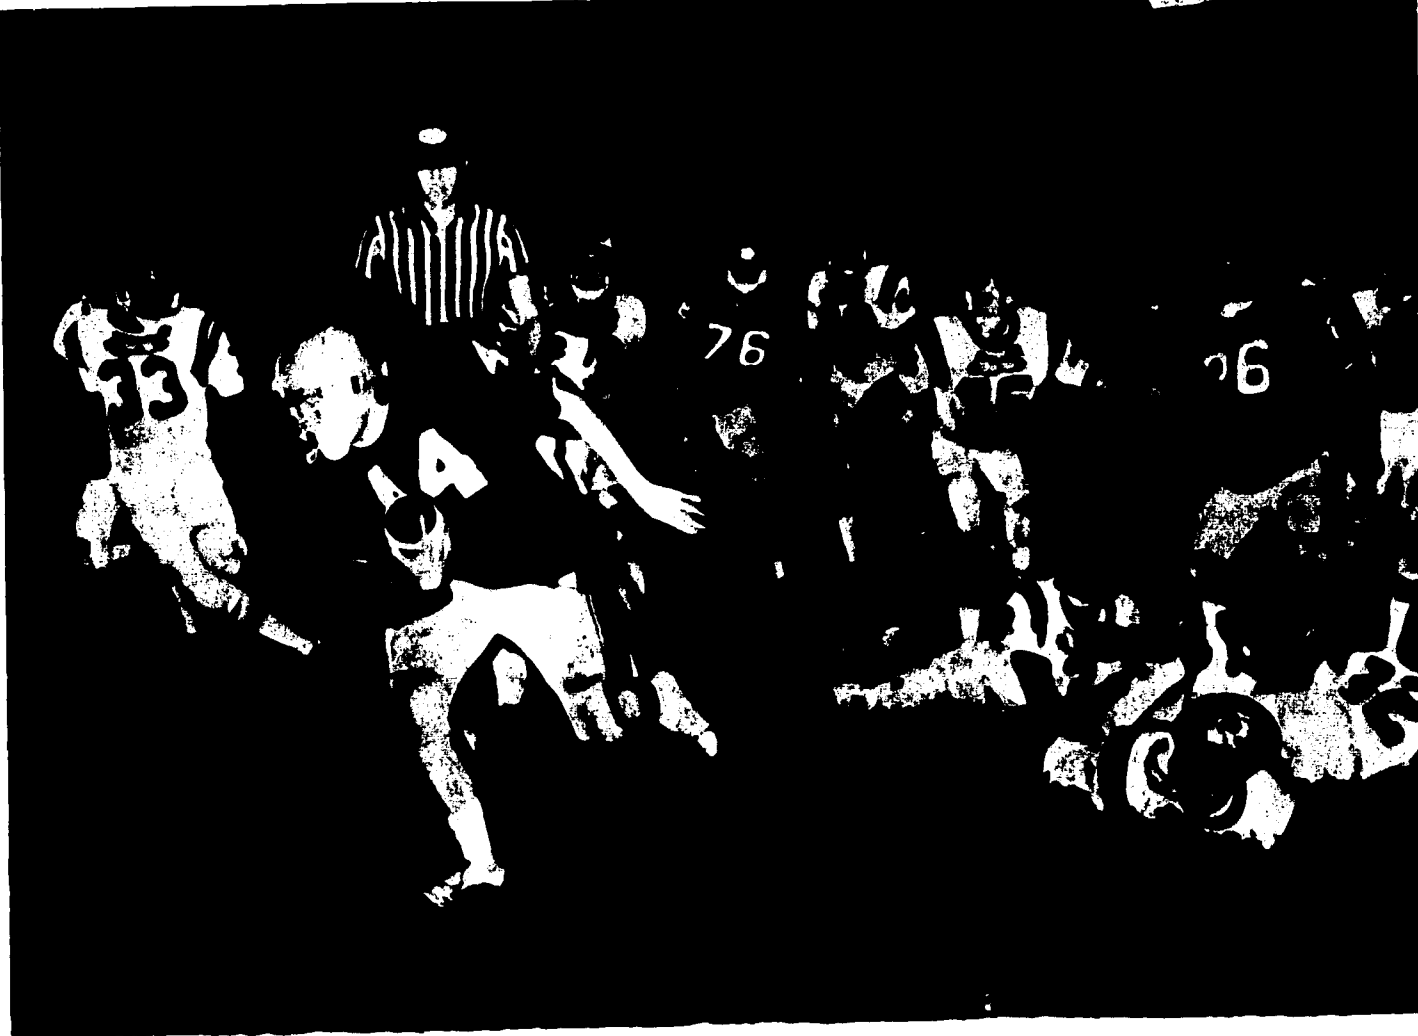

APPEARANCE BY FONDA CANCELLED

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Actress and antiwar activist Jane Fonda will not be making a scheduled appearance before the Syracuse Kiwanis Club because many of its members reportedly felt that her recent actions in North Vietnam were too anti-American.

Richard Wilson, the service club's newly installed president, said Thursday that "all hell broke loose" when members were informed at this week's meeting that Miss Fonda was to speak at their luncheon next Tuesday.

Fishing tourney is slated for Millwood

MILLWOOD LAKE—While most sportsmen will be loading up their shooting irons in pursuit of a big buck or some other coveted hunting trophy, bass fishermen will be on the water here Nov. 4-5, fighting it out for a national championship.

The event is the first Lunker Busters National Open, conducted by a society of fishermen established a year ago by an Arkansas boat manufacturer.

The group is known as Lunker Busters, and its membership now includes anglers from 36 states. The club is a project of MonArk Boat Company of Monticello, Ark., which will underwrite the fall tournament here.

Some $8,000 worth of prizes is expected to entice several hundred fishermen from south Arkansas and adjoining states. First prize will be a bass boat, plus a custom trailer, accessories and a trophy. Second place prize is a Fiberglass sport-fishing boat, also with trailer and accessories and a trophy. Third prize is aluminum bass boat with trailer, accessories and trophy.

The fishermen who gets the largest bass of each day's competition will receive a $300 cash prize, as will the fishermen who captures the largest bass of the tournament.

The Lunker Busters will gather here at Cypress Slough Marina for a registration barbecue Friday evening, Nov. 3. The action will get underway at 6 a.m. the following day, and continue until 4 p.m. Another 6 a.m. to 4 p.m. session on the following day will conclude the tournament.

For additional information or entry blanks, contact Lunker Busters National Headquarters, 1900 Worthen Bank Building, Little Rock, 72201.

Millwood has been the site of numerous local, regional, and national bass fishing contests. More often than not, the catches produced during these tournaments have been impressive. One of the most outstanding catches occurred during the early part of this year when two fishermen brought out a string of 20 bass that weighed slightly over 70 pounds. Individual bass, weighing from 8 to 7 pounds, are reported on a regular basis and lunkers weighing over 7 pounds are taken frequently.

The lake closely resembles that red-hot bass hole to the south, Toledo Bend, both in appearance and bass producing capabilities.

Millwood covers approximately 22,000 acres at normal level and has a shore line length of about 87 miles. Of this total acreage, well over three-fourths of the lake is composed of flooded timber which provides several thousand acres of ideal bass habitat. Although the lake will average only about eight to ten feet in depth, there are numerous river channels, lake beds and sloughs where the water may be 35 feet or more.

The two principal feeder streams for the lake, Little River and Saline River, account for many lunker bass. Both of the streams are well marked in the timbered areas, but a depth finder is needed to trace the Little River channel in the open water.

The area between the five- and six-mile markers on Little River is especially productive, and the section between the first and second pipelines on the Saline River affords excellent bass fishing. Other good areas are a section of Hickory Slough north of Little River, Big Bayou, Hurricane Creek and Beard's Lake.

A map of the lake, which shows most of these areas, can be obtained by writing to U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Office, Millwood Dam, P.O. Box 488, Ashdown, Arkansas 71822.

There are no cabins available for rent on the lake now, but several modern motels are located at Ashdown. The Palomina, Saratoga, Beard's Bluff, Cypress Slough, and Yarbrough Landings have plenty of room for both tent and travel trailer campers. Gasoline and fishing supplies are available at or near all landings.

Terrorism is forbidden word

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States has made another concession to Arab and African opposition to its original effort to combat the type of terrorism that stained the Olympic games in Munich.

The latest example is a State Department decision not to even use the word "terrorism." The new administration preference, it has been learned, is for such phrases as "acts of criminal violence."

Another sign was a speech Secretary of State William P. Rogers gave privately

Thursday to some 50 representatives of African nations attending the U.N. General Assembly.

It is understood he told the Africans the problem is not political nor does the United States see it in terms of any geographic region.

Rather, Rogers is said to have explained, the United States has in mind stopping hijacking, airplane sabotage and acts against innocent civilians.

Earlier, Rogers told protesting Arab and African leaders the American position did not lump violence by so-called national liberation movements under the label of terrorism.

This change was said to be part of a redefining of the American drive to get a U.N. agreement imposing sanctions against countries not punishing terrorists.

Whatever the reason, the new American position is in marked contrast to the public American stand immediately after Munich.

Then the United States cast a rare veto of a U.N. Security Council resolution because it did not directly link the Arab guerrilla attack on the Israeli Olympic team retaliatory raids by Israel against Lebanon and Syria. Eleven members of the Israeli Olympic squad were killed in the commando attack Sept. 5.

The word "terrorism" was used frequently and on the record by U.S. officials in describing the Munich raid and there was no effort to avoid linking the attitudes of some Mideast states toward the Palestinian guerrillas as a main factor in the violence.

The conciliatory speech by Rogers to the Africans came two hours after he met with Egyptian Foreign Minister Mohammed Hassan el Zayyat in an unusually friendly session that did not mention terrorism.

Fighting erupts on Highway 13

SAIGON (AP) — Fighting erupted along Highway 13 today, blocking traffic less than 20 miles north of Saigon while B52 bombers launched their heaviest raids in the Saigon area since the 1968 Communist Tet offensive.

A Saigon command spokesman, Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, said the highway had not been cut, but traffic was suspended all day due to the fighting. He said the action occurred between the provincial capital of Phu Cuong, 13 miles north of Saigon, and the district town of Ben Cat, 28 miles north of the capital.

Hien said 19 enemy were killed and three prisoners captured in one clash while one government soldier was wounded. Results were inconclusive in two other fights, he added.

Sources said they would not characterize the fighting as a push on Saigon, but rather an attempt to cut the highway.

The B52 raids were ordered by the U.S. commander, Gen. Frederick C. Weyand, who is reported to believe the Communists plan a wave of attacks in the Saigon region aimed at discrediting President Nixon before the Nov. 7 election.

"If he — the enemy — makes a play for the election, this is where he is going to make it," said one source discussing the Saigon region. "That's why the B52 raids have been stepped up, on orders from Weyand."

More than 40 of the B52s dropped 1,000 tons of explosives on enemy base camps, munitions stockpiles and infiltration routes. The blasts produced the effect of a minor earthquake in Saigon, rattling windows and knocking objects off walls.

Most of the raids were concentrated along the Saigon River corridor, a key infiltration route used during the 1968 Tet offensive, and were directed at re-established base camps in the Hobo Woods and Iron Triangle, 25 to 40 miles north and northwest of the capital.

The Hobo Woods and Iron Triangle were cleared out in the late 1960s by American troops who fought some of the bloodiest battles of the war there.

Sources say it is unlikely that the enemy can mount any substantial infantry assault against Saigon itself, but they are prepared for rocket, sapper and terror attacks in the capital.

In the air war, U.S. fighter-bombers, including the F111 swing-wing jets, carried out more than 300 strikes Thursday across North Vietnam, the U.S. command said.

An F4 Phantom escort shot down a Soviet-built MIG21 about 50 miles northeast of Haiphong, the Air Force said.

The command announced that a Phantom returning from a mission over North Vietnam crashed in Laos this morning. The two crewmen bailed out and were rescued. One suffered a broken arm, a spokesman said.

In Cambodia, government reinforcements sent up Highway 5 to aid embattled soldiers at the provincial capital of Kampong Chhnang were cut off today when Communist troops blew up three bridges behind them, according to reports reaching Phnom Penh.

Sources said a column of undetermined size from Phnom Penh never reached its objective but was isolated along a five-mile stretch of road 35 miles northwest of the Cambodian capital.

Oil accord marks new era

NEW YORK (AP) — The tentative agreement by Western oil companies that grants five Persian Gulf nations an eventual 51 per cent share in oil concessions in their own countries marks a new era in the history of overseas petroleum operations.

After nine months of negotiations, the accord was reached Thursday in New York between the Gulf states of Abu Dhabi, Qatar, Kuwait, Iraq and Saudi Arabia and nine Western Oil companies.

Arab countries have been steadily increasing their share of the oil dollar for many years, but the new agreement would eventually give them legal control over concessions which date back to the early 1900s.

For the oil companies, which described the accord as a "milestone," the agreement is considered a major move toward more stable working agreements with the Arab oil countries. It may also mean greater stability for other oil nations.

The five states, all members of the 11-nation Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, account for about 26 per cent of free world oil production.

The agreement, which calls for each Persian Gulf state to negotiate details separately with oil companies in its territory, is expected to set a pattern for other oil producing nations. The other OPEC nations are Venezuela, Indonesia, Libya, Iran, Algeria and Nigeria. Neither side would disclose details of the agreement, including terms of payment, pending final ratification and signing. But they said the Arab states were granted an initial 20 per cent share of the oil concessions, with a gradual increase to a maximum 51 per cent interest.

At present, the five states earn about $5 billion a year in royalties and taxes from oil concessions.

The new agreement is not expected to affect the market price of oil, which fluctuates according to supply and demand, industry sources said.

The companies involved in the negotiations were Standard Oil of New Jersey, Standard Oil of California, Texaco, Mobil, the Royal Dutch-Shell group, British Petroleum, Compagnie Francaise de Petrole and Participations and Explorations Corp., a Portuguese company.

Vietnam building a new pipeline

WASHINGTON (AP) — North Vietnam is building a new coastal pipeline which defense experts say will increase and speed the flow of vital gasoline and other oil products from China.

U.S. analysts estimate the new pipeline, supplementing a twin line laid earlier from the Hanoi area to China, could be finished by early November.

The Hanoi government started building pipelines to China after the United States mined and closed seven North Vietnamese ports in early May.

These pipelines, together with hundreds of trucks using many roads, have enabled North Vietnam to continue receiving vital war supplies from China and Russia, although in considerably smaller quantities than before the mine blockade and bombing of the country's rail and road links with the outside were ordered by President Nixon last spring.

The first four-inch-diameter pipelines, connecting the Hanoi area with the railroad town of Ping Haiang in Southern China, carried about 20,000 tons of petroleum products to North Vietnam in August, according to U.S. intelligence. No estimates are available yet for September.

Pentagon experts have calculated that North Vietnam's minimum gasoline and oil requirements can be met with a flow at the August level, which was about 40 per cent of the country's monthly imports of fuel for aircraft, trucks and tanks when Soviet ships were free to unload in Haiphong.

The new line was detected in late September, starting west of the small port of Hon Gai. At last report, it extended about 25 miles northeastward toward China.

Analysts say the new pipeline may be pushed as far as some small ports in South China, such as Lanchuanao which can accommodate smaller oil carriers. The U.S. experts say the Russians could shift their oil to land by way of smaller vessels. U.S. warplanes have struck some pumping stations on the inland pipeline but have concentrated mainly on hitting storage depots into which the oil flows.

The pipeline itself is too small a target to be attacked effectively from the air.

Minestrone basically is an Italian soup created by blending a variety of vegetables in a broth base. Although there are as many recipes for this filling soup as there are Italian cooks, it traditionally contains legumes such as white kidney beans and chick peas or garbanzos. Thus it has a solid amount of protein, enough to sustain a dieter. Every good minestrone also includes fresh vegetables for aroma and a little meat. This is a good soup to make in large quantities and thus get the full flavor of all ingredients.

Since it freezes well, make a large batch and store in quart-size containers in the home freezer. For best eating results cook vegetables briefly before freezing and add briefly cooked macaroni when the soup is reheated for serving. Label and date containers. Thaw a container of frozen soup in the refrigerator the night before if you know you want it the next day. It will thaw within one half to one hour when the container is placed in a pan of hot water. Reheat slowly since rapid heating tends to overcook some of the vegetables.

Homemade soups are something special and many can be frozen successfully. Pureed soups may separate a bit upon thawing. Beat quickly or put them in a blender to overcome this. Another excellent trick is to make a rich, concentrated chicken or beef soup stock, pour it into ice cube trays and freeze. Transfer "stock" cubes to a plastic bag, label and keep in freezer and use cubes as needed for soups, stews and casseroles.

MINISTRONE

1/2 pound (5 strips) bacon, diced

Italian minestrone is excellent vegetable soup that freezes well.

- 1 cup chopped onions (about 2 medium)
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 2 cups chopped cabbage (1/2 head)
- 1 cup chopped endive or escarole (4 leaves)
- 2 cups chopped celery with leaves (4 ribs)
- 1/2 cup chopped parsley
- 2 carrots, sliced thin (1 cup)
- 2 parsnips, sliced thin (2 cups or 1/2 pound)
- 2 zucchini or summer squash, sliced (3 cups or 1 pound)
- 3 quarts water
- 1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes
- 2 cans (6 ounces each) tomato paste
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 4 teaspoons oregano
- 1/4 teaspoon basil
- 1 can (20 ounces) white kidney beans
- 1 can (20 ounces) chick peas or garbanzos
- 2 cups (8 ounces) elbow macaroni
- Grated Parmesan cheese

Cook bacon in large kettle long enough to render some fat. Add onion and garlic; cook until soft. Add remaining vegetables, water, tomatoes, tomato paste and seasonings. Stir and bring to boil; cover and simmer 30 minutes. Drain beans and chick peas, rinse and drain again. Add to soup and simmer 2 minutes longer.

To Freeze: Set pan in ice water and cool soup completely. Ladle into five 1-quart containers. Use plastic or glass or use milk cartons, top staple removed, washed with warm suds, rinsed thoroughly and dried. Fill nine-tenths full. Restaple tops of milk cartons or add lids (and freezer tape if needed) to other containers. Label and date. Minestrone can be frozen for 2 to 3 months.

To Serve: Thaw container of soup in pan of hot water (about 2 hours) to defrost; turn into saucepan and heat slowly. Meanwhile, for each quart of soup, cook a rounded 1/2 cup of macaroni in 1 pint boiling water with 1/4 teaspoon salt, 7 to 10 minutes, until tender. Drain and add to soup. Serve with grated cheese. Makes about 5 1/2 quarts.

HIGH RISE TEST

WASHINGTON (AP) — A unique 11-story laboratory to test plumbing and waste vent systems will be built on the campus of the Stevens Institute of Technology in Hoboken, N.J., the Department of Housing and Urban Development announced recently.

Particular attention will be given in the laboratory to venting for plumbing installations in high-rise apartment buildings. The building will be the only one of its kind in the United States and one of three such structures in the world devoted to similar research.

Mrs. Corky Bradshaw of Dumas, Arkansas, American Legion Auxiliary Department President, and Mrs. Ines Compton of Hope, Department Secretary, are attending the annual national presidents and secretaries conference of the Auxiliary at National Headquarters in Indianapolis, Ind.

The conference, being conducted Oct. 4 and 5, will brief department presidents and secretaries on program for the 1972-1973 Auxiliary year. Conference theme is "Year of Opportunity Do You Hear the Knock?" to implement the year's theme of "Opportunity Knocks in Concern and Commitment for Our Communities and Country," chosen by National President Mrs. T.G. Chilton of Superior, Ar.

The Auxiliary has 34 programs devoted to community service, veterans affairs, youth programs and foreign affairs.

All national and state officers will attend the conference along with chairmen and members of the 34 national standing committees. Total attendance will be about 200 persons.

Q — I am getting ready to finish our attic. Are there any hints you can give me about putting up the framework? I know something about it, but need my knowledge to be confirmed.

A. — Going into every detail of the framing of an attic would take far more space than is available, but here is some information that may be of help. Nail 2 by 6s to the rafters at the height you want the ceiling to be. Nail them so that the edges face upward and outward. While you have some leeway as to the height of the ceiling, be sure that the collar beams or joists are at least 2 feet below the highest point of the roof. The joists must be reinforced if there is an unusually long span, 10 feet or more. To reinforce the joists, nail 1 by 4 supports from the collar beams to the rafters above the new ceiling framework.

Knee walls can be anywhere from 4 to about 5 1/2 feet. The 4-foot height will eliminate considerably cutting if you use wallboard, plywood or any other material of that size. But if there are to be a number of built-ins and closets, more height is preferable.

There are several ways to attach the tops of 2 by 4 studs to the sides of the rafters at the desired height. One is to nail them to the sides of the rafters. Another is to attach 1 by 3s to the underside of the rafters to form top plates. In either case, sole plates are nailed to the floor where the bottom of the wall is to be. These sole plates, 2 by 4s, should be nailed through the subfloor into the joists below with 1-6 penny nails. The studs must be absolutely vertical, so use a level and plumb bob to be certain there is perfect alignment, otherwise you'll have to do a lot of shimming later. The studs should be 16 inches apart on center, that is, 16 inches from the center of one stud to the next. Where extra heavy and rigid material is to be used for the walls, you can get by with studs 24 inches apart on center.

Q. — I used some copper tubing recently and tried to bend it, but there was a kink at the center of the bend when I got finished. How can this tubing be bent without getting that kind of result?

A. — To make a smooth bend in flexible copper tubing, use a spring-type tubing bender, available at plumbing supply houses and some building supply dealers.

Ungratefully Godfather Must Go

Dear Helen:

I'm due to have my baby any day now. Naturally my husband and I are discussing the christening of our child.

My only brother is living with a girl and they have three kids. I wanted him and his common-law wife to stand for the baby, and he to be its godfather. But I have second thoughts.

It's not their living together that bothers me, but the fact that they are never home anymore. They are forever leaving their children with baby sitters. They don't dress or feed the kids properly. Godparents are supposed to take over if something happens to natural parents, and I couldn't bear the thought of our child being raised this way.

How can we get out of this without hurt feelings? —D.W. Dear D.:

You can't get out of this without hurt feelings but that shouldn't stop you from making a choice that seems best for your child.

Level with your brother—about marriage, child-raising, the godparents' part in spiritual training, the works. It won't be easy, but it just MIGHT clear him toward a more orthodox family life. —H.

In your answer to "Modern Career Wife," you agreed that "cheating" takes many forms, some less forgivable than sex. True, but both of you overlooked the fact that the "encounters" (other women, other men, as it were) have human feelings too.

Modern Career Wife forgets. —

JUST A THOUGHT

Dear JAT:

You're so right! Thanks for your good thoughts. Read on: —H.

Dear Helen:

You asked recently why the "Other Woman" seldom writes. Your ESP was right: she would rather forget!

First, Rod put off getting his divorce because his two daughters were still in school. Then, their weddings caused a "delay." Next, his wife (in name only) had major surgery—how could he leave her when she was ill?

Another year of secret meetings, promises, waiting: "Business was bad"; a grandchild came along. Then, glory be! His wife finally agreed to a divorce. He was to give her everything: house, alimony, custody of the younger children—I was all he wanted—so he said!

She was to tour Europe before the divorce was final. She asked him to stay in the house until she returned.

Our wedding date was set. . . But Rod is now on the honeymoon, not me! He joined his wife in Europe. I am vacationing alone with my memories.

May "Other Women" profit by my experience. —NEVER AGAIN

Alpha Delta Chapter meets

The Alpha Delta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma met Tuesday, Oct. 3 in the home of Mrs. Mildred McPherson with Mrs. Martha Brashier and Mrs. Betty Foster, co-hostesses.

For the program, Mrs. Charlean Eitar presented "Overview for '72-'73" in which she gave a resume of program plans for the year. The theme will be "Changing Times; Challenge or Dilemma" and a varied and interesting series of programs will be given by members and special guests.

Mrs. Wiley will retire

Mrs. Lorraine B. Wiley Extension home economist for Johnson County formerly of Hempstead County, will retire from the staff of the Cooperative Extension Service on October 31, 1972. She will have completed 30 years of government service.

Mrs. Wiley, the former Lorraine Burns, was born at Yellville, Arkansas, and attended public school at Harrison. She has a bachelor and a master of science degree from the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville.

Before coming with the Extension Service, she worked for the Farm Security Administration at Paragould, Clarendon, and Marion. During World War II, she worked for the War Department at Tulsa, Oklahoma, and later for the Office of Price Administration at Fayetteville. The year before coming to Extension, she taught home economics at Lavaca high school.

Mrs. Wiley joined Extension as assistant home demonstration agent for Johnson County in August, 1946. She was promoted to home demonstration agent and transferred to Mena to serve Polk County in 1946 and was transferred to Hempstead County in 1946 where she served as HDA until going to Johnson County in October, 1968.

She has been active in civic and church work. She was member of the Hope and Clarksville Business and Professional Women's Associations, and she served as president of the Clarksville Chapter. She also served as president of the Clarksville AAUW and belongs to the Eaylean Service Guild, Chamber of Commerce, Arkansas and American Home Economics Associations, and Arkansas and National Associations of Extension Home Economists. She served on the board of directors of the state association for a number of years.

Mrs. Wiley received the Distinguished Service Award in 1966 from the National Association of Extension Home Economists for her work with rural and urban people in nutrition, home furnishings and home management problems, and for her work with youth in the 4-H program.

Mrs. Wiley is married to Charles S. Wiley who is now retired.

Guest minister set for Sunday

Dr. Fred R. Harrison of Malvern will be the guest minister at the First Presbyterian Church of Hope on Sunday, Oct. 8, at 11 a.m.

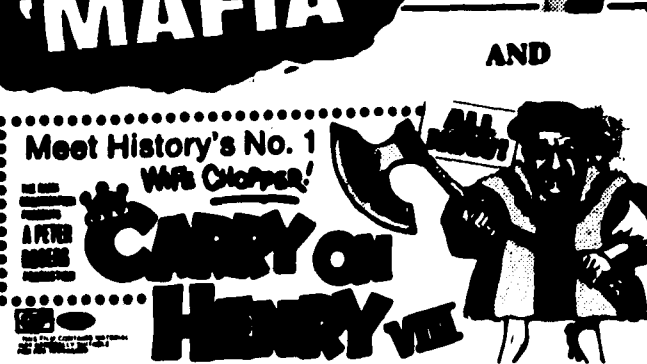

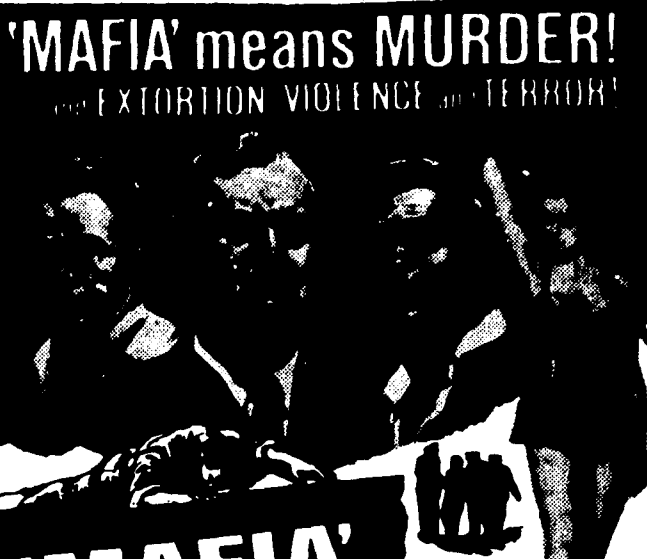

Dr. Harrison was the pastor of the First United Methodist Church in Hope from 1964 through 1968. Other pastorates he has held include the Palmetto Heights and Winfield Methodist Churches in Little Rock, and the First Methodist Churches at Malvern, Texarkana, and Hot Springs. He served as District Superintendent of the Arkadelphia, Pine Bluff and Camden Districts of the Methodist Church. Dr. Harrison is a graduate of Hendrix College and of the SMU Perkins School of Theology.

After 43 years service in the Little Rock Conference of the Methodist Church, Dr. Harrison retired in 1970. He and Mrs. Harrison now reside in Malvern. His many Hope friends are invited to hear him preach at the local Presbyterian Church on next Sunday morning, October 8.

Cats face Crossett

By ALAN FOSTER
Star Sports Writer

After a week of grueling practice in preparation, the Bobcats travel to Crossett to take on John Pierce's Eagles.

Crossett is tough. Any team that holds Magnolia under until one minute left in the contest has certainly got it together. This was on Crossett's season opener as Magnolia just got in under the wire to defeat them 23-19.

This week, Robie Boyd's passing should be back to full potential after troubles last week on a disastrously muddy field against Malvern.

And as the old saying goes, you've got to have a good passing attack to set up your run. Hope fans will be hoping to see David Johnson, "The Lone Ranger" ride again.

Also Hope's defense should be able to get off the line faster and be more effective this week.

One big factor could be the long ride, which will be the longest distance the Cats have to travel. This is enough to be mentally tough on any squad.

Crossett is especially tough at home and Head Coach John Pierce would surely like to defeat his old acquaintances from Hope. But if you look at it close, give Hope the Edge.

TV blackouts under fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the National Football League doesn't voluntarily lift its home-game television blackouts, it faces the possibility that Congress might pass a law putting games on television when they are sold out.

"I'm hoping (NFL Commissioner Pete) Rozelle will think about this and come up with a voluntary plan," said Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., author of a bill to end local blackouts of sports contests that are sold out 48 hours before the event begins.

"Unless Mr. Rozelle comes up with an answer within a week," Pastore said, "this bill may go on as an amendment to another bill."

Although Rozelle told the Senate communications subcommittee he would consider voluntary action by the NFL, Pastore said he doubted the professional football league will do anything about it.

"I don't think Mr. Rozelle was serious when he said he would take it under advisement," Pastore said.

A three-day hearing on the bill ended Thursday with three TV networks, Sens. William B. Spong Jr., D-Va., and Alan Bible, D-Nev., endorsing the bill.

"Here in Washington it is virtually impossible to buy a ticket to a Redskins game at any time," Spong said in a prepared statement. "Yet the people of the greater Washington metropolitan area, including thousands of Virginians, are barred from seeing on television these games which are so important to them and to which they would buy tickets to see, live, if they were afforded the opportunity."

"Professional football is adopting a selfish and unreasonable attitude. It may 'kill the goose that laid the golden egg' if it does not show more consideration for the people."

Frazier faces law suit

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — World heavyweight boxing champion Joe Frazier was sued Thursday for $25,000 for failing to appear with his rock group, "The Knockouts," in Memphis last August.

The circuit court suit accuses Frazier and out-of-state agents who booked the appearance of breaching a contract negotiated with Dr. Ed O. Franklin.

Mike Griffin: Facing the best

By DAVE BAER

Any player will agree that playing under game conditions is an education unmatched by all the film viewing, team meetings, and play books in existence.

Offensive tackle, Mike Griffin, would tell you he's already started his "master's degree" in game experience this year.

In the Razorbacks first three games, Griffin has lined up against the opponent's best.

When the Hogs played USC, Mike blocked their All-American tackle John Grant. Then, against OSU, his man was the agile Barry Price, and last week, Griffin squared off with Tulsa's Arthur Moore.

Mike wasn't surprised by any of them. He knew they would all be good. He also knew he had to be ready for them.

"Knowing I'm going against someone that good makes me bear down on what I have to do during practice," said Griffin. "I look at film and decide what will work best and try to do that in the game."

HOLDING ON—Hope Bobkittens demonstrate one of the many reasons how they held Camden scoreless until the last 34 seconds of the game last night at Hammons Stadium. The Bobkittens

Razorbacks meet TCU in conference opener

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles has no explanation.

TCU Coach Billy Tophill says he hasn't been involved.

That was the reaction when each was asked about Arkansas' 13 straight victories over TCU. Arkansas and TCU meet Saturday night at Fort Worth in the Southwest Conference opener for both teams.

Arkansas lost to TCU in 1968—Broyles first year at Fayetteville—and hasn't lost since.

"As I look back, it's just a phenomenon," Broyles said.

"Every team is a new team. There's just no explanation for it."

"Everybody here has been talking about 13 years, 13 years, 13 years," Tophill said. "We've only been here one year and they haven't beaten me."

This appears to be TCU's best chance against Arkansas in several years. TCU has beaten Indiana and the University of Texas at Arlington. Arkansas, the preseason favorite in the SWC, has been a disappointment to some in non-conference play. The Razorbacks lost 31-10 to the University of Southern California and then scored one-point decisions over both Oklahoma State University and Tulsa.

"Every time I think about the last two games I get cold shivers," Broyles said. "And, my stomach comes up in my throat."

Arkansas was hampered against Tulsa somewhat by a sputtering passing attack. Quarterback Joe Ferguson completed only 10 of 23 passes for 75 yards.

"His bad throwing was done off the running play fakes," Broyles said. "Part of it was our fault. Our timing was bad on the routes."

Broyles said the Razorbacks had put in extra practice time on their passing this week and that it had improved.

Tophill says he expects to throw quite a bit against the Horned Frogs, who are last in the SWC in pass defense.

TCU's 4-4-3 defensive alignment is new to the Razorbacks this year and Broyles said Arkansas had prepared a "completely different game plan" than the one employed in the first three games.

Arkansas' offense worked against the 4-4-3, but Broyles said the Razorbacks did not get a "true picture" of the defense practicing against the B team.

Offensively, TCU operates from the ground oriented wishbone. Incidentally, Arkansas is Trojans favored over Stanford

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Is this the week that the top-ranked Southern California Trojans are due for a fall in college football?

The unbeaten, untied Trojans take their No. 1 national ranking and Rose Bowl hopes on the road to battle Stanford, a team that has upset them two straight years.

The Trojans are a big favorite to make it five in a row, but in the wake of last week's upsets of Colorado and Tennessee anything could happen in this game that headlines another hectic Saturday on college gridirons.

Colorado, which dropped from third to 12th in this week's Associated Press rankings after losing to Oklahoma State, goes against Kansas State while 10th-ranked Tennessee, beaten last week by Auburn, takes on Memphis State.

Third-ranked Ohio State plays at California, No. 4 Alabama is at Georgia, No. 5 Michigan, entertains Navy, No. 8 Louisiana State is at Rice and No. 9 Texas hosts Utah State.

In games involving the AP Second Ten, Oregon is at No. 11 Washington, Florida is at No. 13 Florida State, Arizona is at No. 14 UCLA, No. 16 Penn State is at Illinois, No. 18 Mississippi meets No. 17 Auburn at Jackson, Miss. and the Air Force, No. 19 is at Colorado State.

Second-ranked Oklahoma, No. 6 Nebraska and No. 20 Iowa State have an open date.

Missouri is at Oklahoma State, Northwestern at Wisconsin, New Mexico at Wyoming, Columbia at Princeton, Pitt at Tulane, Arkansas at Texas Christian and Oregon State at Arizona State in other games.

game against a great player, but I'm looking forward to it."

Kickoff for Saturday's game is set for 7:30 p.m. in Amon Carter Stadium.

An Open House is scheduled for University of Arkansas Alumni and Razorback fans who will be attending the Arkansas-Texas Christian University football game. The event, sponsored by the Fort Worth Chapter of the UofA Alumni Association, will be held at the Holiday Inn Midtown, University Drive and 1-20, in Fort Worth from 1 until 4:30 p.m., October 7.

The Chapter's president is Harry W. "Wally" Schmuck, a 1951 journalism graduate of the UofA and now a Fort Worth dentist. He has "cordially invited all Alumni and Razorback fans to the open house."

There will be no formal program according to Dr. Schmuck. He said the Holiday Inn Midtown is located approximately one-half mile from TCU's Amon Carter Stadium. The reception will be over in plenty of time for the 7:30 p.m. kickoff, he said.

Sinden returns to hockey

BOSTON (AP) — Harry Sinden, who shocked the sports world by quitting the Boston Bruins after coaching the team to the Stanley Cup championship in 1970, is returning to the National Hockey League club as an executive.

Sinden, 40, was named Thursday to the newly created position of managing director of the Bruins, who made a major front office change by moving Milt Schmidt from general manager to executive director.

Dolphins sport perfect record

NEW YORK (AP) — There is only one team in the National Football League with a perfect record after three weeks of the 1972 regular season—the Miami Dolphins.

There are only two teams in the NFL with perfect losing records after three weeks—the New Orleans Saints and the Philadelphia Eagles.

The Chicago Bears are also winless, but they have a tie to blemish their otherwise perfect losing record.

With the rash of upsets in pro football the past two weeks, one might think that it was time for either the Saints or the Eagles or the Bears to pull one off.

This doesn't appear to be the weekend, however. And it also looks as though the Dolphins will continue as the league's only unbeaten, untied team.

Now for a look at the games, and the latest Fearless Football Forecast, with hopes everybody can forget last week's performance was 6-4-1 for the second consecutive week—putting the record at 22-15-2 for 565.

Miami 28, New York Jets 20—It may be the week for the Dolphins to fall, but with Bob Griese and Co. spearheading Miami's offense and a porous Jet pass defense, don't count on it.

Dallas 31, Pittsburgh 27—This was supposed to be the weekend that the Cowboys fell. Somebody didn't tell the Packers, however. Therefore, Dallas will probably be vengeful this Sunday and Terry Bradshaw won't be able to save the day for the Steelers.

Atlanta 31, Detroit 30—Now we'll see if the Falcons are really as good as the Dutchman says. But this one could go either way, particularly if Greg Landry and the Lions start to roar.

Cincinnati 21, Denver 17—The Bengals won't lose two consecutive games this year if Paul Brown has to play himself. The Broncos are improving rapidly, but not rapidly enough to win this one.

Blue: When you're hot, you're hot

OAKLAND (AP) — Vida Blue owes the Detroit Tigers a thank you.

By reaching the American League playoffs, which open here Saturday, they saved him from a certain one-week demotion to the Oakland A's bullpen. As it stands, Blue is only a tentative starter for the A's in the best-of-five series.

"I'd like to start," says Blue. "But, you know, it's been that type of year. When you're hot, you're hot. When you're not, you're not." The 25-year-old left-hander was the hottest pitcher in baseball last year, finishing 24-8 in his first full big league season. This season, he pitched hot and cold after a late start caused by his contract holdout against A's Owner Charles O. Finley.

Blue's 6-10 record this year was the worst among A's starters. So was his 2.80 earned run average.

Manager Dick Williams plans to start Blue in the fourth game of the playoff, if necessary, in Detroit. But if the A's trail two games to one at that point, first-game starter Jim "Catfish" Hunter 21-7 may be used instead.

Williams had planned to use only three starters—leaving Blue in the bullpen—if the Boston Red Sox had beaten Detroit in the East.

Boston's Fenway Park, with its close left field fence, is a horror chamber for left-handed pitchers, as Williams knows from managing the Red Sox three seasons.

Mickey Lolich, 23-14, edged by Blue in the American League's Cy Young Award voting last year, will be the Tigers' starter in Saturday's 4 p.m. EDT playoff opener.

The Tigers arrived here Thursday afternoon. Both teams had the day off from practice and had workouts scheduled today.

"We've got all the material we need to win," said Tigers Manager Billy Martin, who has had scout Charlie Metro following the A's for several weeks.

The Tigers may have All-Star catcher Bill Freehan available for the playoffs. He broke a thumb Sept. 23 but has been returned to the roster for the postseason games.

The Detroit lineup Saturday will include many veterans of the 1968 world championship team. Lolich won three games in the World Series that year, and right fielder Al Kaline, the 37-year-old hitting star of the Tigers' late-season title drive, batted .379 in the Series.

Oakland is getting another playoff chance, after being swept by the Baltimore Orioles in three straight games last year.

Bobkittens edge Camden

By RICKY FAWCETT
Star Sports Writer

"Defense was it all," was Coach Lyle Jones' comment after his Hope Bobkittens beat Camden, 8-4, last night in Hammons Stadium.

The Bobkitten offense never opened up like it has in previous games, but the defense provided the victory margin. The win was the Bobkittens' fourth straight following an opening loss.

Hope took the opening kickoff and could do nothing. That was the pattern of the first half.

Action began early in the fourth quarter. Camden took possession on an interception at their 13 yard line. Two plays later Richard Wilson picked off a Camden pass and sprinted to paydirt. Curtis East scored the two point conversion and Hope led 8-0 with 6:00 left.

With 36 seconds left in the game Camden set up camp at the Hope 40 after a punt. Two plays later Steve Moseley passed 40 yards to Harry Mann for the score. Hope stopped Moseley short of the goal on the conversion and Hope had victory, 8-4.

Next week Hope will lay its 4-1 record against Nashville at home. This is a traditional rivalry, so look for a tremendous game.

Hockey season opens with two new teams

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National Hockey League facing a challenge from a rival league for the first time and minus several outstanding players, begins its 56th season Saturday night with two new teams and a group of fledgling coaches.

With the thinning of talent because of an expansion draft to stock the two new clubs—the New York Islanders and the Atlanta Flames—and the loss of more than 50 players to the WHA, the NHL faces one of its most critical seasons in history.

Nevertheless, the NHL already has awarded franchises to Washington and Kansas City for the 1974-75 season.

The Boston Bruins, defending Stanley Cup champions, were the biggest losers in the battle for talent.

Goalie Gerry Cheevers, forwards Derek Sanderson and John McKenzie and defenseman Ted Green and Ron Plumb all left Boston for the WHA. The Bruins also lost penalty-killer Ed Westfall to the Islanders and goalie Dan Bouchard to the Flames.

Ruling widened

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A federal judge has ruled that the U.S. Constitution bans police searches of newspapers, businesses or citizens not suspected of a crime. He said the proper legal tool is a subpoena.

A search warrant can be issued only with a showing that there is "proper cause" to believe records or materials sought in a criminal investigation might be destroyed, U.S. District Court Judge Robert F. Peckham said on Thursday.

Peckham ruled in a suit by the Stanford Daily, Stanford University's campus paper, against a 1971 Palo Alto police search of its office.

Municipal Court Judge J. Barton Phelps issued the search warrant after nine police officers were injured during violence at a demonstration at Stanford Hospital April 9, 1971. The paper published pictures of the demonstration and the warrant authorized a search for film and negatives to identify the demonstrators.

Peckham ruled the issue was broader than the rights of a free press guaranteed under the First Amendment.

Nixon vows no tax increase

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
President Nixon pledges that "there will be no tax increase in 1973," though his aides said that the full four years of a second Nixon term would pass without a tax hike.

Democratic challenger George McGovern says he doesn't intend to boost taxes for Americans who live solely on wages.

During a news conference Thursday, the President said he was restating his no-tax-hike commitment but added that he could fulfill it only with the cooperation of Congress.

"There will be no presidential tax increase," Nixon said, adding that avoiding a tax hike would be difficult if Congress does not approve a $200-billion spending ceiling he has requested.

The President said that, "if the Congress continues to pass bills and send them to the President's desk that exceed the budget, the Congress will have voted for a tax increase."

He promised to veto such bills and said he expects Congress to sustain the veto.

Last month, White House aides said there would be no tax increase if Nixon is re-elected.

Meanwhile, McGovern took up the tax question while appearing before the Cleveland City Club on Thursday.

A man told the Democratic presidential nominee that many persons are concerned that, "if you're elected, their income might be practically confiscated and given to those who won't work."

McGovern responded: "Of course this is the Republican line. It's pure poppycock . . . If you live entirely on wages and salaries, there is nothing in my tax proposals that would increase your taxes."

Furthermore, the South Dakota senator said, his overhauled welfare proposals would give no assistance to persons who are able to work. He said "the only people entitled to welfare" are those whose age, disabilities or family situation prevent them from working.

Nixon and McGovern also voiced more opposing views on the Vietnam war.

The President told the news conference that the Vietnam peace negotiations "are in a sensitive stage" and declined to predict when or if a settlement will be reached. He said the presidential campaign will not influence "what we do at the negotiating table."

In his Cleveland address, McGovern said the Vietnam war remains "the central affliction of American foreign policy."

Nixon's re-election would mean "another four more years in jail for these prisoners of war in Hanoi," McGovern asserted.

The Democratic vice-presidential nominee, Sargent Shriver, in every appearance Thursday addressed what he called the corruption of the Nixon administration.

In California appearances, Shriver discussed the "aroma" of an administration he said was marked by a $10-million secret campaign fund, oil money shipped secretly from Houston to Washington, the ITT affair, and the alleged bugging of Democratic national headquarters.

McGovern has called the Nixon administration the most corrupt and deceitful in history.

Marriage Announced

Mrs. Annie B. Coleman Weston, and Melvin Weston, announce the marriage of their daughter Willie B. Johnson to Alton Randle, both from Hutchinson, Kansas.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. L.B. Beard, Jr., Pastor of Lonoke Baptist Church, in the home of the bride's mother Mrs. Annie B. Coleman Weston, Friday, September 29, 1972 at 5 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Randle have returned to their home in Hutchinson, Kansas.

Guest attended were: Mrs. Florence Johnson, Mrs. Margaret McFadden, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Woods, Mr. and Mrs. Don Nicklas, Mrs. Leatry Nelson, Miss Debra Monk, Melvin James Weston, Larry Weston, David Johnson and Charles Frazer.

Lonoke Church Presents Youth For Christ Night

The Lonoke Baptist Church Youth Department presents its second "annual Youth For Christ Night." The program will be participated in mostly by new youth and older youth; especially those that will be graduating from high school this season. Our guest will be the young adult choir from the Bethel A.M.E. and Garrett Chapel Baptist church of the city.

The speaker for the occasion will be Miss Gloria Ava Woods. Miss Woods is a 1968 graduate of the Forest City High School of Forrest City. She graduated from Shorter Jr. College 1970. She graduated from Arkansas Baptist College with the Bachelors of Science Degree in 1971. She graduated from the Henderson State Teachers College with the Master of Science Degree this summer 1972.

She now serves the Hope Public School as Counselor for Elementary and Junior High.

Her training in the two church related schools, the Shorter College and the Arkansas Baptist College has lead her to a deeper devotion in the Christian faith. She has become a member of the Lonoke Baptist Church since coming to Hope. She has left the impression of a deep abiding faith on them that have talked at length with her.

Every youth in Hope should hear the testimony of a young woman that have come this far "by faith!"

The service will begin promptly at 7:15 p.m.

Pastor's 22nd Anniversary

The member of Washington Temple Church of God in Christ, 808 South Edgewood St. observe the twenty-second anniversary of Elder and Mrs. L.C. Washington, as Pastor of the church. Service will begin each night at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. A. Phillips is captain for tonight. Her helpers are: Mrs. R. Polindster, Mrs. C. Ross, Mrs. B. Williams, Mrs. D. Lee, S. Phillips, D. Washington, Mrs. D. Washington, Mrs. D. Bowles.

Guest Churches are: Wilton Church, Elder C. Box, Pastor; Mandeville Church, Elder W.K. King, Pastor; Washington Chapel Church and Texasiana Church, Elder R.L. Williams, Pastor; DeQueen Church, Elder A. Edwards, Pastor.

Saturday night, Mrs. D. Stewart is Captain.

Guest churches: Lee Ridge Church, Elder N. Marks, Pastor; Clow church, Superintendent White, Pastor; Mt. Addition Church, Elder F. Stewart, Pastor; Emmet Church, Elder E. Juniell, Pastor.

Only two of the half dozen Lions I talked with about politics liked my McGovern button and they were both newcomers to Hope. The other four, all claiming to be Democrats, said they expected to vote for Nixon although not one of them would admit he liked or admired the Republican candidate.

Asked why they would vote Republican they gave various reasons, not one having anything to do with the principal issues of the campaign. Without exception these men repeated Nixon propaganda such as: "I can't vote for McGovern because of the way he dumped Engleton" . . . "I don't think our country should become a second rate military power" . . . "I don't like the way McGovern won the Democratic nomination" . . . "I don't want to vote for a loser—the polls show Nixon will win big" . . . etc.

Not one of these questions has anything to say about the problems facing our country such as: continuance of the tragic and costly war in Southeast Asia, crime on our streets and the drug problem, corruption in high places, the creditability gap with the president saying one thing to deceive the American people and with his administration doing the opposite in governmental action, such as preying the milk and hot lunch project for school children and then cutting financial support for the same: promising mine safety and then naming a political hack who has done nothing; promising to end the war, whereas he has merely moved 100,000 fighting men across borders into neighboring countries while actually expanding the war with increased help to the puppet government in Saigon and launching the world's greatest and most costly bombing of both South and North Vietnam.

In answer to the question of McGovern's treatment of Senator Engleton I would merely say that Engleton's treatment of McGovern, in not telling him the truth about his medical history, was the cruelest blow a politician could give another politician and fellow senator.

The Republicans have millions of dollars to spend and much of this money is being spent undercover, such as in the bugging of the Democratic headquarters, control of TV and radio news programs, to recruit cheering sections and entertainers at political conventions and rallies, political polls, etc.

As regards the begging incident, one friend merely declared: "Well, both parties are doing the same, both are dirty." This is what Republicans are trying to make the people believe, but this is simply not the truth. No one has ever called Senator McGovern "Tricky George" and we should not forget that Richard Nixon earned his "Tricky Dick" trademark over a 25-year period and I, for one, don't believe he has washed away the spots.

So, to my fellow Democrats, don't be fooled by false propaganda. Read the truth about Senator McGovern and listen to what he says. No one has ever accused him of not telling the truth. He is a honest, dedicated American and a Christian gentleman.

Deep finesse does the trick

In that case could he have made a vulnerable overall without the king of diamonds? Possibly, but not likely. Furthermore, East might well have raised clubs with short hearts, a high club and a side king.

Can East find some way to make his contract if West has the diamond king?

If he looks carefully he will find the chance. He can make it if East holds both the jack and 10.

Beggars can't be choosers. South leads a diamond from dummy at trick two and plays his nine. This knocks out the king and South can discard dummy's small spade on the queen of diamonds.

Nixon pushes aside claim of corruption by Demos

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has brushed aside Sen. George McGovern's charges that his administration is the most corrupt and deceitful in history.

In a voice so quiet that reporters 15 feet away couldn't hear his words, Nixon told a news conference in his Oval Office Thursday that "some of my partisan advisers feel I should respond in kind" to the escalating accusations of the Democratic nominee.

"I shall not do so; not now, not throughout this campaign," he said. "I am not going to dignify such comments."

Anyway, Nixon added, McGovern's assault will backfire because "responsible members of the Democratic party will be turned off by this kind of campaign."

Campaigning in Cleveland Thursday night, McGovern disputed that statement. "I think the crowds are getting bigger and I think the support is getting stronger," McGovern said.

Nixon, who described some of McGovern's proposals as "very disastrous for this nation," was asked about his own campaign plans. He has made only a handful of purely political trips since winning the Republican nomination. He replied:

"It is important for me to stay on the job here in Washington until the Congress additions and until that very great danger of a tax increase caused by congressional overspending is met and defeated."

Boyleing it down

NEW YORK (AP) — We haven't had any drills in double-talk lately, have we?

Well, we might as well have one now, just to be sure we're in shape for the fall and winter social season.

Your ability to double-talk, of course, can make or break your social career. Double-talk is the act of saying one thing while thinking just the opposite, and it is the basis of all polite conversation. For "if we" only opened our mouths to speak the truth, we'd all quickly lose our teeth, and life would be a jungle of resentment.

Perhaps the best way to proceed is to give a few examples of commonplace double-talk in real life situations. The speaker's actual remarks are in quotes, followed, in each case, by what he was actually thinking:

"Why, I could have had John as a husband if I had wanted to. He used to come running every time I snapped my fingers." — I guess I must have snapped them once too often.

"What kind of girl do you think I am?" — Anyway, you guessed right the first time.

"Harry, you know I hate to be asking you for money all the time." — But I'd rather ask than go without it.

"You know I just love to go to a football game, Reginald. But please don't keep apologizing for the seats — They're just fine." — I guess those tiny little figures running around on the field way down there must be the players.

"What if you did make a mistake and take the wrong turnoff, dear? I'll just give us a chance to enjoy this splendid scenery that much longer." — Wake me up when we get there, stupid.

"Well, Mr. Thoroughbred, as my potential financial adviser, would you suggest right now that I put any extra money I had in apartment houses, stocks, bonds, or undeveloped real estate?" — I hope this jobber has enough cash on him to pick up the lunch check. Otherwise, both of us will be embarrassed.

"Cross my heart and hope to die, Mama, I didn't steal the nickel from your purse." Sister took the nickel — I took a dime.

"Yes, it's a deal. But why do you want me to put it in writing? Isn't my word of honor enough?" — If I put it in writing, you can hold me to it in court.

"I don't want you to get your expectations up too high, nephew, but I don't mind letting you know that you're the very first person mentioned in my will." — I couldn't wait until the second paragraph to disinherit you.

Now do you understand double-talk?

STUDY OF BURGLAR ALARMS MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (AP) - GTE Sylvania Inc., under a $77,000 contract to the U.S. Department of Justice, is seeking ways to reduce burglaries and robberies in small businesses, single-family residences and apartment buildings.

The company is conducting a study to determine requirements for reliable and economical alarm systems. Evaluations of alarm systems currently on the market are being made and the study will include information on what, if any, new security equipment should be developed and tested.

HIGHEST ROAD DENVER (AP) - The highest auto road in the United States winds its way to the top of 14,264-foot Mt. Evans, about 40 miles west of here.

Treat alcoholism with realism

By RALPH NOVAK

NEW YORK — (NEA) — There is the ominously empty bottle.

There is the unconscious, disheveled figure slumped across a sofa.

There is someone who is an alcoholic and though it is your own husband or wife or mother or father you are agonizingly, despairingly, absolutely unable to do anything to help.

Where can you turn?

The traditional advice has been that you try to persuade the alcoholic to visit his doctor, his clergyman or Alcoholics Anonymous and generally use tender loving care no matter what. But a new book, "The Alcoholic in Your Life," suggests an alternative place to turn to: in the general direction of the door.

"When it is apparent no amount of aid is going to turn the tide," writes Jo Coudert, "must a strong life be sacrificed to prolong an enfeebled one? I think not. I think a choice must be made and that it must be to save the healthiest. Anything else is waste compounded."

Miss Coudert, a writer-editor who specializes in psychology and is managing editor of the International Journal of Group Psychotherapy, is a small, melancholy woman who speaks from unhappy experience. Her mother became an alcoholic when Miss Coudert, an only child, was in her mid-teens. Miss Coudert's father left them and she took care of her mother for about 10 years, nursing, coaxing, pleading, scolding. All futility.

"I remember being envious of the other girls at school," she says wistfully. "They had mothers who acted like mothers, while I had a mother who was more like my child."

When she was 25, Miss Coudert gave up trying to help her mother and moved away. They never lived together again, though her mother lived 20 more years.

And she says she does not regret her action:

"I would not even have done it differently if the outcome had been 20 days instead of 20 years because her life was no pleasure to her and brought no pleasure to other people, and I cannot believe that an earlier death was something to be prevented at all costs."

Miss Coudert has since found herself in the role of "co-alcoholic" — her term for someone close to an alcoholic but not an alcoholic himself—because of the addiction of two close friends. (There are according to the National Council on Alcoholism, about nine million American alcoholics, but Miss Coudert admits, without being able to explain it, that she seems to have had more than her share of contact with alcoholics.) And she has emerged with the conviction that the co-alcoholics have to be realistic about their situation.

"You have to know what you can do about it and what you can't," she says. "You have to know just how much you can take. And you have to recognize that alcoholism is a stubborn, intractable condition."

Her views are not revolutionary. She is not the only alcoholic who has given up and left an alcoholic to fend for himself. But Miss Coudert is unusually frank about the necessity for considering the possibility that an alcoholic may be untreatable.

The National Council on Alcoholism's recommendations for learning the facts on alcoholism, searching out treatment facilities and convincing the alcoholic to consult his doctor. There is no mention of measures of last resort.

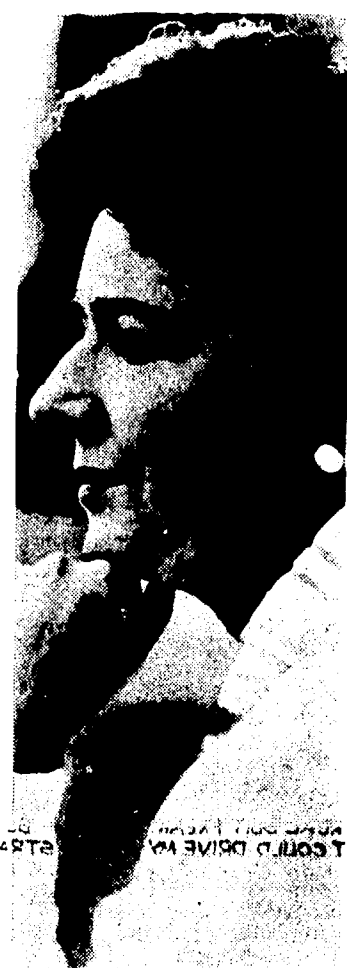

An AA pamphlet on "The Alcoholic Husband," says, "You may have a husband of whom you despair completely. He is violent, or appears definitely insane, when drunk. Doctors may shake their heads and advise to have him committed. In many ways this man may seem to be a 'hopeless' drunkard — but A.A. experience has shown that very few drinkers, however far down the ladder of alcoholism they may be, are 'hopeless.'"

Miss Coudert, who grimly contends it is best to accentuate the negative, says: "If the co-alcoholic is not to abandon herself to apathy and defeat, or alternatively, if she is not to abandon the alcoholic, perhaps it is hope that she must give up."

"If she finds herself whispering, 'Maybe this time . . .,' she must squash the treacherous phrase and replace it with the stern, 'No, No, not this time. Not ever. He is an alcoholic. He will drink again.'"

"When one can say to the drinker, 'From now on, it is your choice whether to drink or not. I cannot stop you and I shall no longer try,' it is not a sentence but a parole. In freeing the alcoholic, one frees oneself to become a person in one's own right."

Jo Coudert

Miss Coudert's pessimism and Freudian theories on the origins of alcoholism—which she says arises from over-coddling mothers — run counter to the dominant medical view of alcoholism, that it is an illness, possibly one that can be treated by chemical means. But she insists that hers is a practical philosophy, not an inhuman one.

"One person can provide for another the climate for change, the courage to change and the incentive to change," she says. But when change still doesn't come, she argues, the co-alcoholic must accept the alcoholic's drinking and make the best of it or leave.

"It's a terribly human thing to try to do it, but you just can't save someone else," she says. "People save themselves or they're not saved."

FRENCH BALLET NEW YORK (AP) — The Ballet-Theatre Contemporain of France will perform in the United States next November, the first French dance company to visit here since Roland Petit brought a company in 1954 and 1958.

Mme. Francoise Adret, director of the four-year-old company, made the announcement at the French Cultural Services office that the company of 33 dancers will appear in New York, New Orleans, Miami and Atlanta. Mme. Adret said, "If we have a success, we will come back to more cities next year."

The company was formed under Andre Malraux, minister of culture, with the idea of export in mind, and is supported by the French government. It is the largest contemporary ballet troupe in France and the only one to dance works by a number of choreographers. Art in stage decoration and music also are important to the company and all are modern. The oldest pieces of music used are by Bartok and Stravinsky.

Mme. Adret, who will choreograph a new ballet for the tour, said, "I started with the classical ballet and then followed my time."

a jack-of-His-trade

Simon was acclaimed the best fisherman of his day. He could really catch 'em. But somehow lately his catch had been small. He had fished long and hard but with little luck. He hoped for full nets on every cast but they were always empty, on this trip, when he brought them up.

Simon, much in need of food and money to fill his purse, showed his disappointment. Just then Christ stepped in and taught him the parable of plenty. He knew very well that Simon was disgusted; that his fishing trip had been a failure. Christ said, "Cast the net again, Simon." Simon quickly obeyed, and behold, his net was so full of fish that it broke.

Of course Christ was working on Simon in this parable. Simon was to become Simon Peter, the fisher of men. The Lord wanted him to know that there were great numbers of men who needed saving just as there were plenty of fish to be caught.

This challenge was not only for Peter, but for all of us.

It was a universal command

"Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and the Son, and of the Holy Ghost." Let us be Jack-of-Our-Trade and let our trade be saving souls for God.

New at district fair

Did you attend the Third District Livestock Show held Sept. 25-30, in Hope? If so, then you probably toured the livestock exhibits and viewed something new.

This year the market lamb show was held mainly by the efforts of six Hempstead County 4-Hers and their dedicated project leader, W. T. Spradling, said Roger Bates, Associate County Extension Agent.

Spradling, a resident of the Shower Springs community, not only initiated the market lamb sale at the Third District Livestock Show, he also supplied the members with a lamb project at a reduced price of $10.00 per head.

William Spradling Jr., son of W. T. Spradling, project leader, and David Polindexter, both members of the Shower Springs 4-H Club, exhibited the grand champion and the reserve champion market lambs. Other exhibitors were Gary Arrington, Dennis Arrington, Cindy Murphy, and Frank Roy, all Hempstead County 4-H members.

On Friday morning following the fat steer sale, six of the seven 4-H lamb projects sold to the highest bidders. The Hope Livestock Company and Southern Mills, Inc., both of Hope, paid a total of $188.95 or an average price of 34 cents per pound for the six lambs.

Newsman's wife defends spouse

BELLEVILLE, N.J. (AP) — The wife of Peter Bridge, the newspaper reporter jailed for refusing to testify before a grand jury probe, says no one would talk to her husband if he revealed his sources.

Anne Bridge said it would be just as though she were to reveal the secret of a neighbor — "She will never talk to me again."

Mrs. Bridge's husband, Peter, 36, went to jail Wednesday for refusing to reveal new confidences to a grand jury.

"If Peter reveals his sources nobody will talk to him. Or give him a scoop. I sure am proud of him," she said Thursday. "I don't want him to change his mind. He really believes in his case. I'm sure he's right. We'll pull through somehow."

Bridge is the first journalist to go to prison for contempt since the U. S. Supreme Court ruled June 29 that newsmen may not withhold confidential information from grand juries.

Five months ago he wrote an article for his paper, the Evening News of Newark which has since gone out of business, in which he quoted a member of Newark's Housing Authority as saying she was offered a $10,000 bribe to influence her vote for the authority's new executive director.

On July 7, Bridge was found guilty of civil contempt for refusing to answer five of about 80 questions posed by an Essex County grand jury investigating the election.

"He has the key to the jailhouse door," the sentencing judge said before Bridge was led away in handcuffs. "All he has to do is answer five questions."

Bridge may gain his freedom if the grand jury's term is not extended beyond its expiration date of Oct. 30.

"It was kind of hard," recalled Mrs. Bridge, mother of two with a third child due any day. "I cried. The cameras were right at me. I am a cry baby as a rule. But I'm a tough cookie too."

"Peter told me, 'Don't worry about it, honey.'"

Before the sentencing, she said, "we seemed to be alone. Then out of a clear blue sky it seems like everybody has been calling us. There has been lots of encouragement."

Bridge has been without a job since the News went out of business Aug. 31.

"Peter says when he gets out of jail he'll find a job even if he has to drive a truck. But I don't think he'll be happy at that."

Bridge was sentenced one day after the U.S. Supreme Court turned down, 5 to 4, an appeal in which he argued that he should not be required to testify beyond the scope of the information in his story.

The bribery charge was never proved and the controversial election was held two months ago.

Reporter's jailing is 'justice travesty'

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — John Finnegan, executive editor of the St. Paul Pioneer Press & Dispatch and chairman of the Associated Press Managing Editors Freedom of Information Committee, said Thursday the jailing of a New Jersey newsman is a travesty of justice.

Finnegan said: "It is an incredible travesty of justice that a Newark newspaperman has been jailed for an indefinite period of time because he refused to answer five questions posed before a New Jersey grand jury."

"The judge in this case has in effect told reporter Peter Bridge that he must answer questions or rot in jail. It is entirely conceivable that Bridge could be held in jail for many months on the contempt of court citation issued by Superior Court Judge H. Curtis Meanor."

"The grand jury is on a standby basis with an Oct. 30 termination date. That date could be extended for many more months; it has already been extended twice."

"The Bridge case represents precisely the danger of governmental harassment to the media that newsmen warned about following the June U.S. Supreme Court decision that held that the First Amendment does not prohibit grand juries from requiring newsmen to identify their confidential sources of information...."

"The Bridge case also reveals how important it is that editors, reporters and the public get behind legislation at the national and state levels which will provide at least a qualified privilege for newsmen who withhold sources of information from grand juries or other governmental agencies," Finnegan said.

In a separate statement, Wendell Philippi, managing editor of the Indianapolis News and president of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association, called on editors around the country to write to Bridge and to extend him all possible support.

Bridge, who worked for the now-defunct Evening News of Newark, was jailed Wednesday. Judge Meanor, in refusing to modify the indefinite sentence, said Bridge "has the key to the jailhouse door. All he has to do is answer five questions."

Meanor said Bridge must remain in jail until he answers the five questions or until the grand jury's term expires.

NEW YORK (AP) — Only one in eight of this country's self-employed have undertaken pension programs under the Keogh Act, which permits them to set aside in a tax shelter as much as 10 per cent of income up to a maximum of $2,500 a year.

The situation is causing concern in the life insurance industry, the major provider of retirement plans for the self-employed, which finds itself unable to stimulate enthusiasm for the Keogh provisions.

Underlying their concern is the fear that a gap in any kind of private insurance coverage — life, health, casualty or retirement — tends to be filled by, or to at least draw the critical interest of, the federal government.

James Attwood, chairman of the industry's Task Force on Pension Legislation, estimates that only 20 per cent of self-employed professionals and probably 5 to 8 per cent of nonprofessionals have coverage.

"One problem with self-employed plans," Attwood said in an interview, "is that young men won't contribute because they are too concerned with rents and cash demands, and older workers cannot afford the expense."

But this is only one of many difficulties. There are marketing challenges to be overcome. And there are problems with the Keogh Act itself. Attwood recommends changes.

The challenge of marketing is to offer retirement plans at a low cost to the purchaser. They must be mass merchandized, much as group health plans, even though the buyers are individuals rather than members of one company.

The alternative to mass merchandizing is to sell on a one-to-one basis, as life insurance policies are sold. That means one salesman to one customer, with necessarily higher costs.

The marketing thrust therefore has been through professional groups, such as the American Bar Association and the American Dental Association. But the response hasn't been good.

Attwood supports an administration bill now in Congress that would liberalize Keogh provisions. One of the primary aims, he said, is to permit a maximum of $7,500 a year to be set aside rather than the $2,500 now permitted.

He feels a better balance must be reached between obligations and benefits. Presently, an individual incurs severe tax penalties if funds are withdrawn before age 50 years, 6 months. He believes that penalty is too severe.

WR UNDERGOES SURGERY IN N.Y.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Exploratory surgery was performed Wednesday at New York on former Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, according to a three paragraph memorandum released Thursday to his employees here.

Rockefeller has been undergoing tests in a New York hospital since Sept. 24. The previous week, a cyst had been removed from his back at Morriston. A member of the Rockefeller staff said the cyst was "possibly malignant."

Rockefeller said the exploratory surgery was performed because other tests had proved inconclusive.
